

Annual Events

“We are so fortunate in Santa Fe to enjoy the highest level of contemporary, modern, traditional and historic art in the country each flourishing and adding to the ongoing narrative. Art is a way of life in Santa Fe. We live, eat and breath art to its fullest every day.”

Memorial Day Weekend. Native Treasures: Indian Arts Festival. The most notable Native artists including Tammy Garcia, Keri Ataumbi, Roxanne Swentzell, to name just a few, support their culture at this “artists by invitation only” event hosted by the Museum of Indian Arts and Culture. Native American artists representing a wide range of tribes and pueblos present their exquisite works. From traditional to contemporary art, from emerging to established artists, you will see museum quality art, much of which is included in the Museum already. Each artist generously donates a portion of sales to the Museum’s programs. Nativetreasures.org Annual May Market

The International Folk Art Market. Each July the Folk art Market celebrates “Bringing The World Together”. The largest event of its kind in the world: 190 artists from 60 countries come together to offer handmade masterworks. It is the brainchild of Santa Fe’s most successful retailers, museum curators and creative talents. They have created a splendid display of rich textiles, exquisite jewelry, incredible basketry, intricate crafts and more, all mixed with exciting entertainment and vibrant colors of the world. Santa Fe’s Spanish Market, pays tribute to the traditional Spanish Colonial arts and culture that is at the very core of our lives in Santa Fe. The history of this culture is rich with the religious art of hand carved santos and bultos, tin work, jewelry, weavings and furniture combined with a new juried contemporary art venue. It blends live-music, regional foods and dance on the Plaza.

Santa Fe Indian Market. This is the largest and most prestigious intertribal fine art market in the world and has a history dating back to 1922. Participation is a family tradition providing native historical and contemporary arts. These varied collections of jewelry, pots, paintings, sculpture, and glass can be of museum quality and absolutely exquisite. Weeks preceding the market are filled with ceremony, awards, auctions, fashion shows and the glamorous gala. swaia.org. Annual August Market.

Wine & Chile Fiesta. Every year in September foodies and oenophiles gather for the best food and wine event in the Southwest. Wine & Chile is a citywide celebration of fine food and fine wines during which renowned chefs sauté and sauce up their best vittles for the discriminating throng. It is guest chef luncheons, cooking demos, wine seminars, auctions, nightly wine dinners, golf tournaments and the Grand Fondo, a 72 mile bike ride. santafewineandchile.org. Annual September Fiesta.

ARTsantafe offers an all-encompassing experience including an exemplary mix of excellent contemporary galleries from the world, cutting-edge art installations and emerging artists and dealers. The high-stakes world of the international art fairs always provides a heady and glamorous fare for serious collectors and scene-seekers alike. Enjoy the gala opening night vernissage, lectures and a host of notables. artsantafe.com. Annual July Market.

The Santa Fe Independent Film Festival advances independent, innovative, and cutting edge cinema and brings 5 days of excellence in filmmaking to the inclusive and diverse community of Santa Fe, New Mexico. Acolades: "MovieMaker Magazine named the annual five-day series of screenings and panels one of the 50 film festivals 'worth the entry fee' for filmmakers, citing the event's 'solid independent line-up,' diverse panels and use of historic venues." "It is the fourth consecutive year the film fest has been recognized in the magazine's top-50 list." "It's one of those few festivals where you come and the filmmaker is celebrated more than the celebrity." antafeindependentfilmfestival.com.
